

Action Research, Food Justice, and Food System Change

Robert Gottlieb Keynote Address

Robert Gottlieb is Emeritus Professor of Urban and Environmental Policy and the Founder and Former Director of the Urban & Environmental Policy Institute at Occidental College. He is the author and co-author of thirteen books and numerous other publications and editor of two MIT Press series. His work has inspired and helped develop several groundbreaking programs, research studies and events in the food systems, environmental, and transportation areas. A long time environmental and social justice activist, Bob has been engaged in researching and participating in social movements for more than 50 years.

How can community-based research create a more just and sustainable food system?
